INTRODUCTION

WHO ARE WE

New University is founded as a private higher education institute with elements of public-private partnership established by concession and other public funds allocated for international exchanges and research.

The main goal of New University is based on the quality of study programmes, application selection and international comparability. To achieve this goal we will respect the highest ethical standards on all areas.

The university is engaging in the international higher education space by promoting student, academic and non-academic staff exchanges with the partner institutions from abroad. The university also collaborates with the latter in different forms of higher education and international research projects.

New University gives a special emphasis on the research activity and because of that has an intention to establish the main centre of research in the regional level and one of the most prominent research centres on the national level, that will at the same time be distinctively focused on cooperation and visibility in european and global scientific space.

At its establishment New University links three faculties – European Faculty of Law, Faculty of Government and European Studies and Faculty of Slovene and International Studies. The purpose is to broaden the fields of education by bringing in new joined members and by introducing new interdisciplinary programmes run by University itself of via members.

New University represents a synergy of its members with institutional and disciplinary integration with study programmes, research work and international cooperation.

INTRODUCTION

WHO ARE WE

If the nature of the education fields allow it, University enables and promotes a problem oriented type of education and its connection with economic practice, local and regional environment and benefits of the state. New University firmly believes that practice is an excellent way to understanding theory on a whole another level. New University's goal is to educate critically thinking students.

New University believes that a reasonably competitive spirit in creativity and higher education is a welcome stimulation for its own progress.

New University is a distinctly all-Slovene higher education institution. It is based in Ljubljana, but has its study centres in Nova Gorica and Kranj.

FACULTIES OF THE NEW UNIVERSITY

At its establishment New University links three faculties – European Faculty of Law, Faculty of Government and European Studies and Faculty of Slovene and International Studies. The purpose is to broaden the fields of education by bringing in new joined members and by introducing new interdisciplinary programmes run by University itself or via members.

EUROPEAN FACULTY OF LAW

European Faculty of Law distinguishes itself from others by its dedication to internationalisation, European dimensions of teaching and practical aspects of legal theoretical foundations. The Faculty is intensively strengthening cooperation with similar educational and research institutions from the European Union and broader. A key role in connecting research and study lies in transferring research results into teaching and in including students in research projects.

FACULTY OF GOVERNMENT AND EUROPEAN STUDIES

The goals of the Faculty of Government and European Studies include nurturing a deep understanding of governmental structures, policies, and diplomacy at both national and European levels. Our objectives include equipping students with the analytical tools and knowledge necessary to navigate the complex dynamics of contemporary governance and diplomacy within the European Union framework.

FACULTY OF SLOVENIAN AND INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

The Faculty of Slovenian and International Studies involve promoting a comprehensive understanding of Slovenian culture, language, and society alongside global perspectives and intercultural communication. Furthermore, with the introduction of the new Applied Psychotherapeutic Studies program, the faculty aims to equip students with practical skills and theoretical knowledge essential for providing effective therapeutic interventions and promoting mental well-being in diverse clinical and community settings.
