

A Case Study Presentation

On September 18th, a case-study was presented by the LAP Unit at the PDU Training Days 2018-2019. The focus of the presentation was to show that class instructors and the learning advisors are equally important to student success. The unplanned single case study demonstrated how beneficial a cooperative partnership is between the Learning Advisor, the instructor and the student. In this case study, the student's reading score increased substantially due to the team effort of all three factions. This cooperative partnership showed how important the instructor's autonomy was in increasing the learner's autonomy.
